CONVOCATION CENTER

The Convocation Center features a maple hardwood playing surface and a seating capacity for more than 4,000 fans.

Playing games in the UTSA Convocation Center — also known as "The Convo" or "The Bird Cage" — has traditionally proven to be an outstanding advantage for the men's basketball team. The Roadrunners own an all-time record of 274-119 (.697) in the facility.

CONVOCATION CENTER >>

- Built in 1975, the Convocation Center features a new permanent maple hardwood court that measures 17,900 square feet and seating that accommodates 4,080 spectators.
- The "Convo" hosted the 1993 United States Olympic Festival Volleyball Tournament, 1998 NORCECA World Volleyball Championships, 2002 WBCA All-Star Game and 2004 Nike Hoop Summit.
- It has been the home of UTSA's volleyball team since 1989.
- Eight of the top 10 crowds in program history have come during the nine-year Laura Neugebauer-Groff era, including the top two in 2009 (1,537 vs. McNeese State on Oct. 14 and 1,330 vs. Texas State on Nov. 12).
